

“Walt Shiel coached my literary work from a raw manuscript to a greatly improved, beautifully typeset novel ready for publication. Walt gives the clearest instructions I’ve ever encountered in over 200 hours of undergraduate and graduate studies and countless IBM in-service classes. His weekly instructions respected my ambitions and abilities and the necessities of the trade. He pointed out weaknesses and offered fixes rather than merely industry platitudes.”

John Hager, Rapid River, MI

“Walt and the staff were responsive to all of my questions and concerns and offered cost-effective solutions for improvements. Now, I have a masterpiece that looks better than most I have seen on the bookstore shelves! I almost cried tears of joy when I saw the finished product!”

Tanya L. Dominick, J.D., LL.M., American Center for Conflict Resolution Inst.

“Besides creating my CIP data, Five Rainbows went the extra mile to help me when I had problems accessing my PCN number from the Library of Congress. They were prompt and professional...I highly recommend their services.”

Bill Jamerson, Escanaba, MI

Our 5 Key Services

1 Editing

Need a hand polishing that manuscript? Reach out to the full range of editorial services we offer .

We can edit on a printout of your manuscript and mail you the marked-up copy, or edit directly in your electronic file using the change tracking feature. We do charge slightly more for editing on printed manuscripts, since that takes more time. Our rates include a final editing pass to make sure no new basic errors crop up during your acceptance or rejection of our individual edits.

After receiving our estimate for your job, if you're still interested in our services, we will provide a sample edit of one chapter (2,000 words maximum) before you make a final decision. If you agree with our style and approach, we will provide a detailed contract, with schedules, for your approval.

2 Typesetting

Confused about how to get your manuscript ready for the printer? Need a professional layout? We can provide complete typesetting and book layout services.

We can provide the final typeset manuscript in Adobe InDesign and/or Adobe Acrobat (PDF) formats to meet your printer's specifications.

3 Indexing

Need a thorough index for your nonfiction book? Let our staff—which includes a college-trained, professional indexer and librarian—create your index.

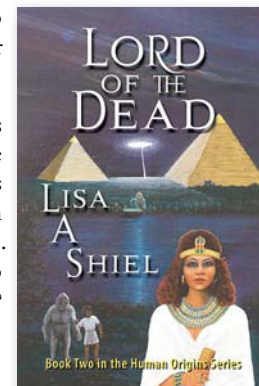

Save yourself the time and aggravation and ensure professional results!

4 Book Covers

Want your cover to really go zing? Get eye-catching, original artwork perfect for illustrations for books, articles, web sites, brochures, and more. Our staff includes a professional artist—an expert at creating illustrations for print media—who can create original artwork to meet your needs. Sketches or full paintings, we do it all.

All commissioned artwork is provided royalty free. Once you pay for it, the art is yours to use as you please (with proper attribution, of course). Need the artwork converted to high-resolution digital format? No problem!

5 Coaching

Overwhelmed by the self-publishing process? Sign up for our sanity-saving coaching program and let us guide you from your finished manuscript to a self-published book. We tailor our program to meet your goals and needs, and to provide the extra assistance you want and need. Our coaching package includes a series of emails (typically sent weekly) that will

- ★ explain in detail exactly what you need to do and when;
- ★ provide links to all the online and offline resources you'll need;
- ★ suggest books pertinent to your immediate needs and others for additional background; and
- ★ provide background information to expand your knowledge of publishing and book production.

The program price includes one hour of email or phone consultation each week. We offer additional consultation at our standard hourly rate.

In the initial consultation, we will determine exactly what you need and propose a schedule to achieve your goals. This initial consultation is free with no obligation.

We structure the program to meet your needs and budget.
